

Sample text for “Description of Expectations”

This faculty member is expected to teach a 2:2 load (12 credits per year) in Wildlife Studies according to the needs of the department and as directed by the department chair. The faculty member will conduct research in the field of elephant studies, publish such research in peer reviewed journals, present findings at professional conferences, and submit proposals to extramural agencies to fund this work. The faculty member is expected to participate in some outreach activities as directed by their chair or dean. The faculty member is expected to attend faculty meetings, and to participate in committees at the department level and the college or university level.